The late J. Paul Getty, one of the world's richest men, wrote in his autobiography, As I See It, that he had tried to live by his father's credo: "It's not how much money a man has, it's what he does with it that counts."

I believe this same thought could be applied as to how a person uses his/her talents, time, gifts, etc.

As Jesus told in the parable of the talents (Mt 25:14-30; Lk 19:12-27), the master expected his servants to wisely use that which was entrusted to them. He praised those who were wise and industrious and condemned the servant who was lazy. God has likewise given us different gifts, talents, abilities, and blessings and He expects us to use those things for His glory. But one thing that He has given us is the same for all people: time. There are 168 hours in a week. Are we using our time to glorify God? Are we using our money, abilities, gifts, etc. to glorify Him? If not, why not? Remember, we are not guaranteed tomorrow. Let's make our lives count and live for His glory!

Something to think about as we go about our week.

Love and Blessings,
Trace

The world lives in a time of crisis.
Christians alone are in a position to rescue the perishing. We dare not settle down to try to live as if things were normal.
